b. Departments and agencies represented on the U. S. Intelligence Board shall continue to be individually responsible for photographic interpretation and the production of photographic intelligence in support of established departmental or agency responsibilities and the utilization of such photography and related collateral information in the production of intelligence, such as, warning intelligence, orders of battle, estimates, technical intelligence, precise geodetic data, targeting, maps, charts, matrices or other targeting materials and related research and development.

c. To promote an integration of effort and to avoid unnecessary duplication and expense, a coordinated interdepartmental approach to the exploitation of photographic intelligence shall be established.

photographic intelligence units of Intelligence Board departments, agencies and commands simultaneously, and without delay for preliminary analysis, within the bounds of any special security controls required.

c. The NPIC shall provide on a selective basis for the preliminary, rapid interpretation of photographic detail, including where possible tentative identification of such detail; and shall make appropriate distribution of such preliminary interpretations, with supporting references to appropriate related collateral information, to interested elements of the community.

d. It is the intent of this directive that NPIC not engage in the production and dissemination of finished intelligence. Photography which appears to be primarily of departmental or agency significance shall be the primary exploitation responsibility of the department or agency concerned. It shall make arrangements for the exchange of photographs and photographic data with other photographic collections in the Intelligence Community, and shall make appropriate recommendations to facilitate the coordinated development of compatible codes, indexes, and mechanized systems for the efficient recovery, selection and collation of available photographic data.

g. The NPIC shall engage in or sponsor, as appropriate, the development of specialized equipment for the intelligence exploitation of photography, and shall provide information about such specialized equipment to interested elements of the intelligence community for their own possible use or further adaptation.

h. The NPIC shall examine and make recommendations to the U. S. Intelligence Board, as appropriate, as to any special security controls required.
